

Le Maire de Montréal

December 12, 2015

Dear New Montrealers:

I would like to join with Montrealers in wishing you a warm welcome to Montréal, your new home.

As you will soon realize, Montréal is a metropolis that is open to the world, a city where people of diverse cultures, religions, ethnic backgrounds enjoy Living Together and share the pride of all those who choose our city to work, study, raise their children and live in peace and harmony.

Your new city will give you all the opportunities to make your life a success with your families, and overcome the difficulties you have faced. Our municipal services will help you make the transition easier. Members of our community will be there for you through their generosity, kind heartedness, enthusiasm, and also because you have chosen Montréal as your welcoming land.

I would like to thank you and wish you happiness and peace in Montréal, your new home.
